Dear Parents and Carers

Some of you will have heard by now that Mrs Buckley, our outstanding Yellow Class teacher, will be starting her maternity leave from 15 June, rather than the previously anticipated date. We wish her well and hope to see her around school from time to time. We have really enjoyed her being here and look forward to working with her again in the future.

If your child is in Yellow Class you should have already received the revised dates for Parents' Evenings and the Key Stage One end of year play.

Between now and the end of term Mr Edwards will take charge of Yellow Class and this will continue in September. There will be just a few days this term when we may have to call in a supply teacher due to Mr Edwards' established commitments with Red Class.

The Lunch Saga

After much communication with the kitchens at Langtree it has been confirmed today that next week we will be back on track with lunches. Therefore, it will be week 2 (B) commencing with Jacket Potatoes on Monday. Apologies for any confusion this week; we did try very hard to minimise disruption.

Yours sincerely

S R McTegart
